Cleaning Pan's Pipes - Mythological Erotica The god Pan is alive and walks the earth. In some villages and towns, sacrifices are still made to him. Pan does not approve of the sacrifice of life-blood, the ones he prefers are those where he takes the first blood of an innocent himself. In this way he ensures that his bloodline continues. Eva's a modern girl, she knows that the rest of the town is crazy. After all, they believe that the old gods truly exist. She enters herself in the lottery held every seven years, the one that selects the next sacrifice for Pan. Her sole intent if she wins is to debunk the crazy beliefs of the town. Pan is not amused and, along with taking his normal sacrifice, decides that she must learn a on.
