Librarian Note: Alternate Cover Edition for ASIN: B00EECMDUK. Claire loses her parents to a fatal car accident when she is just a little girl.

She grows up in her old-fashioned and somewhat eccentric uncle's home in London until she is old enough to find out the truth. She has inherited her parents' home, an old mansion, which stands proud and tall on top of a hill surrounded by a forest near a little town called Maenfield.

She decides to move to Maenfield to live in the mansion hoping she can perhaps recall some of the forgotten memories of her parents and childhood. She soon discovers the mysteries of the mansion, and hopes it will put an end to her reoccurring nightmares, which are of the mansion's previous owners, but mostly of the dark natured yet irresistible Valens Lukrad, Count of Vlampui. Strange things start to happen in the mansion, and Claire soon realizes that she is not alone...
