Matt and Christian from Where You Least Expect It are back! It's Fourth of July and Christian wants to go to the fireworks show; Matt's hot and bothered and wants to stay home. Christian promises to make it up to him later and they head off to the park to watch things explode. Christian might be focused on the fireworks, but Matt's still focused on Christian.

Lucky for them, the night is chilly and no one looks twice when they cuddle under a blanket. Even luckier, no one can see what Matt's hands are doing to Christian.
