Wendy Smucker wants her late brother back and is having a hard time adjusting to life without him. She misses his Bible scripture drills and strong faith. His best friend, Franklin Hershberger, is the only man in her Old Order Amish congregation who has Immanuel's strong faith, love for Christ. Franklin needs a wife to help him run his farm and care for his siblings. Since his parents' tragic death, things have been hard. He has his eyes set on Wendy until he finds out her faith isn't as strong as it should be. He promised Immanuel to watch out for Wendy if anything ever happened to him. Now, he must protect her from ungodly men, and he knows that someone who professes to be a Christian can be worldly and not bear fruit, especially if they are in Rumspringa. Wendy has taken a special friend without Franklin's approval and is lured to the excitement of Rumspringa. Can Franklin stop her from a downward spiral and find a good Christian wife?
