Synopsis Bryan and Lucy are in exile from the home they love, a quest they began has gone wrong and they are stuck in Scotland, the current year is 1989 and they have to run again from a new enemy. As they make their way to Edinburgh to escape Bert is dragged into the quest through no choice of his own With Bert's help they have to seek out a further 6 ancient magical keys, one of them in in the hands of Lucy's ruth father. At first they are hunted by a secret organisation that already holds the 'Wealth Key'. They are tracked down by an ambitious little man called Schmitt who is after the key of travel that they have. The seven keys are split into two types, Travel, Time and Dimension are used to travel archaic tracks that cover the planet and they draw power from the user.

Peace, Wisdom, Immortality and Power imbue the holder with attributes specific to them. The 'Peace Key' is found underground within the confines of what was a dwarf monastery The 'Wisdom Key' is found within a labyrinth that turns men into Minotaurs and in turn is protected by a giant Minotaur. The 'Immortality Key' is found in a deep pool within a city that uses it as a fountain of youth but is attacked nightly by the banished who want to be returned to their youth.

The 'Power Key' is found in the possession of the ruth King, who is also Lucy's father and he wants to rid the land of ALL non-humans. The 'Wealth Key' works by making the holder 'money' rich no matter what they do and has no value out with the initial world where it has made an organisation extremely wealthy.
