A gifted mind that can see what others can't, or a delusional girl lost to facts and figures? Jyra, a half-kin with a knack for quantum theory walks the line between what is real, and what just might not be discovered yet. Along with her friend Andi - who may or may not be from an entirely different reality, Jyra must unlock one of the oldest puzzles of the universe before a dark force beats her to it. Join Jyra as she fights through lab explosions, espionage and point blank missiles, all in search of a way to bridge the dimensions before the great choice arrives
