"Lay off this case ..." ... and just to make sure Dan Benton knew what was in store for him if he didn't, the two goons yanked him out of bed, pinning his arms back until the circulation stopped. Then the silky-voiced character stepped up to him, smile, and smashed an iron-like fist into Dan's abdomen, and then another into his face ... His best friend had been brutally murdered, Dan wanted to know why he was accused of it. There was only a single lead - Betty, the voluptuous nymphomaniac girlfriend of his late pal. ... But to get her to talk, Dan had to satisfy the searing, animal passions that roared through her red-hot blood.

He did. Then he slapped her to get some answers, only to find the pain excited her even more than his kisses!
