A son of sorrow. A prisoner. A warrior. Tauro is a man weathered by the hardships life has placed in his way.

A desire for strength propels him into a life he never expected and challenges with little reward. His cruelty focuses and guards him. He believes the world is meant for the conquering and intends to place his mark on it. A student of swords. A prince. A youth. James is still learning what it is to be a man. Life appears easy but his mom's illness coupled with the new responsibilities of royalty force him to encounter the travails of adulthood. Journeys and new paths stand open to him but naiveté along with arrogance thrust him into an unfamiliar world.

He too hopes to place his name among other legends in the pantheon of history and myth. Oar. A place unknown to some. A place common to others. It is a city with a great history and an empire with rising power and influence. For this reason there are those who desire to control it and others willing to do whatever to protect it. Unbeknownst to those who occupy Oar change is on the horizon.
