WARNING : Hot Steamy Romance Novels "Wow," he smiled. "You look spectacular there like that!" "Like what, Sir? Fucked beyond words?" She looked over at him and smiled broadly but he didn't return her smile. "What?" she asked him, when he didn't return the smile. "What?" he asked back. A smile ticking at the corners of his mouth, as he realized he had been caught by her. "You made this face," she told him.

"I did?" he grinned coming to her and laying down next to her in his expensive suit, not caring if he wrinkled it. "Please Sir," she said turning on her side with a great deal of effort.

"Communication." He nodded with an appreciative grin.

"Why do you describe our sessions as 'fucking'?" he asked her, pushing her tangled hair from her face. "Now granted last night I guess that was the best way to describe it, but it seems you always use that term." "What else would I call it?" She asked him. "What do you call it?" "Well," Gavin shrugged. "I would call it lovemaking, or sex, or a physical/emotional connection," he said softly as he looked at her deeply. "Do you think I am fucking you?" he asked her. Alex shrugged as she stroked the side of his face. Touching his skin made her insides dance with pleasure. "Fucking sounds so impersonal, so emotion. Yes, there are times that we fuck, as that is what we need from time to time. But, other than last night," he winked at her with his mischievous smile. "I haven't fucked you for some time." She stared into his eyes for a few moments
