She's running away from the past... — Tall and slender, with long blond hair, a perfect smile, and ocean-blue eyes, Lori Woodhouse is a beauty by everyone's definition--except her own. In her mind, she's still the overweight girl she used to be before she moved to Glenwood a year ago. But nobody knows about the old Lori. Not even Kit, Alex, or Elaine, her best friends. Even worse, they don't realize that Lori is hiding an alcoholic father. But Lori's plan to keep her past a secret threatens to backfire when Perry, a boy from her old school, moves into the area. The harder Lori tries to avoid him, the more he chases after her. Lori's friends tell her she's crazy not to give good-looking Perry a chance. But Lori's determined to keep him out of her life. If Perry gets too close, he might figure out who she is.

Then everyone will discover why Lori is AFRAID TO LOVE.
