Rebecca Barber refuses to be played again. After finding her gorgeous step-brother in the arms of her worst enemy, she's determined to avoid the past and get on with a future, but the call of their desire for each other won't let go of her yet. Jesse Cummings might be in trouble, and Rebecca's mother is pretty sure that she's the only one who can help him out. But Rebecca isn't ready to forgive him and the more she runs, the more her past, and a vicious psycho killer, chase after her.

Rebecca decides to help her mother one last time, but Jesse isn't in the mood for charity and their lust burns so brightly it threatens to consume them both, especially when Jesse reveals his true feelings for her. Rebecca is ready to throw in the towel and cave, when a vengeful visit from that enemy brings the pain of her past to Jesse's attention and threatens to shatter their connection for good.
