A computer programmer by profession, LonelyPoet started a new phase in his poetry writing after coming to United States in 1998 from India.

In a new lifestyle and culture, the poet took relationships as his writing subject.

In this book is the collection of poems written between 1998 and 2006, taking experience from his own life and life he had seen and heard after traveling to almost every corner of United States. The poems are arranged in three different categories. aSurprises, aPerceptions, a and aTo a Womanas Hearta covering everything from heartfelt sadness to happiness, frustrations to sarcasms in relationships. These poems try to gather all the feelings in romantic relationships in human life, the presence of love as well as the lack of love and the way love affects every aspect of human life.
