T.L. and Black are two low key small time drug dealers in the North East Bronx. Their clientele came as a result of setting up shop in between two very lucrative drug corners.

A double homicide leaves one of the neighboring corners swarming with police. Soon T.L. and Black acquire a flow that leaves them with more money and more problems. One of the bosses gives T.L. an ultimatum/proposition to join his team. After relocating, T.L. finds out that his new boss and corner already have a world of troubles. Soon T.L. is faced with murders, theft, crooked cops and more deceit than you can imagine.

T.L. believes vengeance is his when he goes up against so-called friends with the help of loyal ones. With friends like these is an intriguing novel filled with surprises that will leave you in awe after every chapter.
